They throve finely, and in the spring I had thirteen as fine lamb; as ever were seen, worth as much as I gave for the ewes, and I consider that the wool and manure pand me much more than the cost of the feed. I plowed the field in time for corp-planting, planted it in corn the faithful discharge of their trust. The interests of education, public institucompositions, plant of the corn the regular way, and cathered from thirty to thirty-five bushels of fine corn to the acre; while on the spot, immediately around the shelter where they used to gather at night. I am sure, at the rate of over fifty bushels. I have kept up the use of this renovator ever since, and I find that it pays handsomely. I have never bought an ounce of guano or phosphate. I make fine crops of corn, and wheat, and clover, and turnips. I have a splendid flock of sheep, and hope soon not to have a single worn acre of land on my farm. My renovator has not cost me anything, and it lasts more than a year. I will hear it lasts more than a year. I will hear rom if for several years.

Smut in Wheat.

Many people are afraid of sowing wheat because they think that, it is sa uncertain crop, liable to be destroyed by smut or rust. I have grown wheat for many years and hough I have sometimes suffered from rust, until I hit upon changing my seed every year, I have never had a particle of smut, and no one need have any if he will only take recessary precautions, I always holes in the bottom covered with a strong net, which will keep in the wheat and allow the water to run out.

to the Southern Farmer and Home: While I do not claim to have discovered an infallible cure for rust in wheat, I believe I have found the means of preventing rust in four crops out of five, perhaps more. You remember how destructive rust was to the last erop in nearly all the wheatproducing sections of the South, I raised as fine a crop as ever I had in my life, and I am an old farmer, while all my neighbors' crops were ruined by rust. I attributed my es-March with wood ashes, putting on considerably under American prices, about twelve bushels to the acre. Why the New Whee'er & Wilson is the best the world has ever produced:
It is the only machine that makes the lockstitch with a rotating hook, thus avoiding the annoyance of a shuttle and threading and breaking the same.

It has much less machinery than any other, and is constructed on the most scientific principles. Each joint is adjustable by tempering screws; hence its durability. It is the most scient and rapid sewing machine and also the lightest running in the world, and unlike other machines, which make the more robe the longer they ran, it has no oil above its cloth surface; thus the impossibility of getting the work oiled.

It has the French prized glass foot improvement, and new style combination hemreer, performing with asse and rapidity broad and narrow hemming, felling and binding. The glass feet enable the operator to see every stitch and to gun as close to the edge as desired, all rf which are attached by a slide, thus avoiding the
